

Bastard Nigerian paedophile advises men on how to molest 8-year-old girls and suggests drugs to subdue women before rape A Nigerian man, who identifies as a medical personnel at the abortion and birth control unit of Ibom Specialist Hospital, has angered people with a post advising men on how to rape little girls without their parents getting suspicious. Aniekpeno Akpan has been tagged a pedophile on Facebook after he took to a group to share tips on how to rape girls as young as 8. The tips include; getting close to her parents to win their trust, buying the little girl sweets, then gradually opening the girl's genitals up by using, first, the fingers to penetrate the child, before finally penetrating her with his penis. Unbelievably, a lot of male Facebook users found his post funny. He also shared another post where he listed the drugs that men can use to subdue women before raping them. Akpan, who refers to himself as Doctor Anie, claims to have been a pre-med student at the University of Calabar. He regularly abuses his medical knowledge by posting tips for guys on how to commit sexual crimes. Below are screenshots of his offensive posts.
